PROPHETS OF OLD

First to See Coming Of Prince of Peace

BETHLEHEM, Dec. 25—Beginning the Year of Our Lord 1. — For centuries prophets have forecast the birth of a Christ Child and historians have made many references to the coming of a Messiah.

These are some of the names which have been applied to Him. Immanuel, Wonderful Counselor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace, The Lord of the Highest and Jesus.

Since the birth here today of the Wonderful child and the excitment and rejoicing that have followed, local scribes have been searching history and the Bible and point to the predictions of Isaiah, Jeremiah, Micha and others.

The Lord spoke again to Ahaz saying, Ask thee a sign of the Lord thy God . . . But Ahaz said I will not ask, neither will I tempt the Lord. And he said, Hear ye now, O House of David . . . Behold a virgin shall conceive and bear a son, and shall call his name Immanuel. — Isaiah 7:14.

The people that walked in darkness have seen a great light; they that dwell in the land of the shadow of death, upon them hath the light shined . . . For unto us a child is born, unto us a child is given, and the government shall be upon his shoulders, and his name shall be called WONDERFUL COUNSELOR THE MIGHTY GOD, THE EVERLASTING FATHER, THE PRINCE OF PEACE, of the increase of his government and peace there shall be no end, upon the throne of David, and upon his kingdom, to order it, and to establish it with judgement and justice henceforth even forever.

The zeal of the Lord of hosts will perform this. — Isaiah 9:2-7.

I will gather the remnants of my flock out of all countries whither I have driven them, and will bring them again to their folds . . . and I will set up shepherds over them which shall feed them, and they shall fear no more, nor be dismayed, neither shall they be lacking, saith the Lord, that I will raise, and the king shall reign and prosper, and shall execute judgement and justice in the earth . . . And this is his name whereby he shall be called, THE LORD, Our RIGHTEOUSNESS. — Jeremiah 23:3-6.

Now gather thyself in troops, O daughter of troops; he hath laid seige against us; They say smite the judge of Israel with a rod upon the cheek. But thou, Bethlehem. Ephararath, though thou be little among the thousands of Judahs, yet out of thee shall come forth unto me one that is to be ruler of Israel; whose goings forth have been from old, from everlasting . . And he shall stand, and feed in the strength of the Lord, in the majesty of the name of the Lord his God; and they shall abide; for now shall he be great unto the ends of the earth. — Micah 5:14.

In the sixth month the Angel Gabriel was sent from God unto a city of Galilee, named Nazareth, to a virgin spoused to a man whose name was Joseph, of the house of David and the virgin's name was Mary. And the angel came upon her, and said. Hail thou are highly favored, the Lord is with thee: blessed are thou among women. And when she saw him she was troubled at his saying, and cast in her mind what manner of salutation this should be, and the Angel said unto her: Fear not, Mary, for thou hast found favor with God.

Season's Greetings

Copies of this edition, featuring our annual Christmas front page, written as it might have been recorded in contemporary papers in the year of Our Lord's birth, may be obtained for 15c a copy from the Lemon Grove Review office, 7834 Lester st., Lemon Grove.

We, the staff of the Lemon Grove Review and Spring Valley Bulletin, wish to extend to you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

The Christmas issue today tells the story of Christ's birth as it might have been told if modern newspapers had been printed at that time. Today's current news appears on inside pages. The Bethlehem story was mainly written several years ago by a newsman and its use has become tradition with us. The dispatches are based on the story of the Christ child as it was originally written.

Herod in Dread, Seeks to Delude Sages from East

JERUSALEM, Dec. 25—Beginning the Year of Our Lord 1. — An apprehensive Herod sits on the throne of Judah, and is much disturbed at the significance of the Messiah in Bethlehem.

This was brought to light with the recent visit here of sages from the East who were seeking the newborn King of the Jews. Having heard of their inquiries, Herod hastily called together his chief priests and scribes who write the laws, and demanded them to tell him more of the prophecies of Christ's coming.

Then he summoned the wise men for questioning, and led them to believe that, if they would go to Bethlehem, discover the Child and return and tell him about it, he would journey there himself to pay homage.

Those who heard Herod's interview with these Eastern wise men say he was given only evasive answers.

Political commentators say it is understandable that Herod should feel uneasy at the rise of a leader who will capture the imagination of a discouraged people. His reign has been a singularly unhappy one due to the pressure from Rome.

The Emperor Augustus has lately accumulated foreign property and subjects through a campaign of military invasions and controls about all in this part of the world that is worth taking. This has occupied the minds of the people, but has increased Roman extravagances. Palestine is one of these conquered countries and Herod is the King of Augustus's own choosing.

Some regard Herod's fear of a ruler who will overthrow him in a material sense as being unfounded.

They maintain that the significance of the Messiah is spiritual rather than political, and point out that he has always been prophesied as a Shepherd of Souls rather than a military deliverer.

Magi's Wisdom is Greatest in World Declares Casper

BETHLEHEM, Dec. 25—Beginning the Year of Our Lord 1. — This is what Casper, one of the wise men, said about their belief:

"The wisdom of the Magi is the greatest of all wisdoms on earth, because it knows its own ignorance. And that is the secret of power. We worship fire as a symbol of Him. We keep men always looking and waiting for a new sunrise but we ourselves understand that the darkness is equal to the light and that the conflict between them will never be ended."

Astrologers See Tragedy, Sorrow For Holy Babe

JERUSALEM, Dec. 25—Beginning the Year of Our Lord 1. — Great tragedy will mark the future of the child born in Bethlehem, say the country's foremost astrologers. The stars, they say, reveal:

He will be in great danger while he is still an infant, and because of an attempt upon His life, many children will be killed.

He will live to be hailed in Jerusalem, but will later be rejected and betrayed by one close to Him.

Crucifixion will be the manner of His death, and He will undergo unspeakable suffering.

There are other venerable pathetic words which foretell the sufferings of the promised Messiah.

These reveal that He will be "despised and rejected of men, a man of sorrows and acquainted grief."

Their search of the records it is believed, will continue for many weeks and will entail many secret conferences with not only members of their craft, but with the priesthood in the temple itself. Whether their finds will be made public in detail is not known.

The astrologers added that this preliminary report of their findings as revealed by their efforts probably would be considered altered by further study and indeed, might be radically altered by results of research and study.

Magi Followed Star To Find Son of Mary

BETHLEHEM, Dec. 25—Beginning the Year of Our Lord 1. — The mysticism and beauty of the Orient has mingled with the simplicity and reverence of a little town made holy by a divine occurance.

Three sages from the East, impressive in the richness of their many colored silks and gold insignia, walked the dusty streets of Bethlehem today and told of their journeys across desert and plain to lay rare gifts at the feet of the tiny babe.

They spoke briefly and eloquently of the prophecy. "There shall come a star out of Jacob and a spectre shall rise out of Israel," and they described the brilliance and comet-like action of this star which had arisen in the east, and which they had followed until it halted over the Judean city.

These three Magi who bear the names of Casper, Melchor and Balthazar, were familiar with the Hebrew prophecies which foretold the advent of the Messiah, and had long To prepare for the promised waited for the star, they said. King of Israel, they sold their possessions and equipped a caravan.

Last night, surrounded by humble shepherds and barnyard animals, they fell to their knees and worshipped the young child with great joy, and presented him with frankincense, myrrh and gold.

When they were asked if the commonplace surrounding seemed out of keeping with Christ's significance, Melchor, the wise man, answered:

"The King we seek is not to be found in the palace, nor among the rich and powerful. If the light of the world and the glory of Israel had been appointed to come with earthly splendor, it must have happened long ago. For no son of Abraham will ever again rival the power which Joseph had in the palaces of Egypt or the magnificance of Solomon throned between the lions of Jerusalem. But the light for which the world is waiting is a new light, the glory that shall rise out of patient and triumphant suffering. And the kingdom which is to be established forever in a new kingdom, the royalty of unconquerable love."

An intimation of the uncertain future was voiced when he added: "I do not know how the turbulent kings and people of the earth shall be brought to acknowledge the Messiah and pay homage to Him. But this I know. Those who seek Him will do well to look among the poor and lowly, the sorrowful and the oppressed."

Herod's Spies Said Departing Hurriedly For Jerusalem

BETHLEHEM, Dec. 25—Beginning the Year of Our Lord 1. — Several known spies and two sychophants of the court of King Herod, who for the greater part of the morning have been furtively watching the stable wherein the King of Glory rests in his swaddling clothes, left and came bound presumably for Jerusalem.

Herod is known to be extremely interested in the journeys of the Magi to Bethlehem.

Lowly Shepherds First to Note Miracle

Long-awaited Messiah Born in Lowly Manger

Eyes of All Judea Turn to Bethlehem As Word Spreads

Appearance of Star Convinces Inhabitants New Baby is Prince

BETHLEHEM, Dec. 25—Beginning the Year of Our Lord 1. — The eyes of all Judea are turned with awe today upon this little town as the word emanates from it that the long prophesied Messiah was born here last night.

Miraculous happenings and visitations of heavenly hosts which confronted them with radiance and divine song, lead inhabitants to believe that this is the prince of the throne of David, who Scriptures have said will reunite the scattered tribes of Israel and reign over them as the Son of God.

The appearance of a new star of Great Magnitude and luminescense, convinced them that it portends to the ancient prophecy.

The infant, born to Mary, a Jewish girl from Nazareth, who is the wife of Joseph, a carpenter, was first discovered by a group of shepherds who received the news of His birth from a band of angels while they were tending their flocks in the low lying hills outside the city.

Descending in a blaze of heavenly glory that prostrated the little group of men and boys with amazement, the divine visitors told them not to be afraid but to go to the stable in Bethlehem, where they would find the Christ in swaddling clothes and lying in a manger.

This the shepherds did, being guided all the way by an angel. There they found the child, but recently born, with his parents and stable animals. So deep was the conviction of the angel's message upon them, that they immediately accepted Him as the promised Saviour, and fell upon their knees and worshiped him.

Following in quick succession the visit of the shepherds was a caravan of wise men, or Magi, from humble birthplace bearing jewels and precious gifts. To them too, this was a long-awaited event, since they are close students of astronomy, and were watching for the star. When it appeared they regarded it as the sign that the child had been born which the prophet had foretold.

While the largest part of the population here is talking of the event in tones of unsuppressed awe, and plainly regard it as a means by which they will be delivered from their Roman oppressor, there are many who are frankly skeptical. They feel that the future Christ will come from a more significant source.

The whole atmosphere here has been one of unusual excitement for the past few days since that was the time decreed by Augustus Caesar for all tax payers in Judea to be registered. Mary and Joseph being of the house of David, were required to come to Bethlehem, and although Mary was an expectant mother, and the 50-mile journey from Nazareth in Galilee was extremely arduous for her, the urgency of the order was such that they dare not say no.

From the meager details gained from keepers of public places, it appears that Joseph had failed to make any reservation for lodging. The low temperature of the winter night forced them to the stable where they made themselves as comfortable as they could in the straw. They suffered no ill effects from the experience, however, and those who visited the little family after the birth became known, report that an aura of light transformed the dingy surroundings into a place of beauty.

Mary indicated that she would call the child Jesus.

Great Joy Pervades City of Bethlehem

BETHLEHEM, Dec. 25—Beginning the Year of Our Lord 1. — It is impossible to describe the feeling of great joy that pervades Bethlehem today as the coming of the long-heralded Messiah is realized by the majority of its inhabitants.

The shepherds probably experienced the most poignant sensation for it was to them that the news was first given. The little group who were guarding their flocks from foxes and wolves that still roam the hills of Palestine, speak with great wondering of last night's message from the sky.

The amazing light together with the chanting of a heavenly host has brought an incoherence to their speech; but the radiance of their face is more impressive than any words could be.

"An angel of the Lord suddenly flashed before us and the glory of the Lord shone all around us," one of them said.

"We were frightened but the angel said, 'Have no fear, This is good news. I am bringing to you news of great joy that is meant for all the people. Today you have a saviour born in the town of David, the Lord, Messiah. And here is a proof to you; you will find a baby wrapped up and lying in a stall for cattle'."

Then a host of heaven's army suddenly appeared beside the angel, extolling God and saying, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

"Having sung this song, the angel went back to heaven, the light faded away, and all was dark as before."

"We began talking together about these strange sights and sounds," the shepherd related.

"We didn't stop to think what would happen to our flocks, or wait until morning, we went at once. When we saw all was as the angel had said, we told everyone about it."

'Mary Smiled at Me!' Simply Clad Boy Says

NAZARETH, Dec. 25—Beginning the Year of Our Lord 1. — A young boy — one of the band of shepherds which was visited on the hill near here last night by a heavenly host of angels who told them of the birth of the baby prophet, was a shy narrator of events transpiring at the stables when the presence of the child became known.

Rough clad, and plainly awed by his part in the divine drama, he gave the only clear impression gained of Mary, the mother of the Holy Child. The other shepherds were too inspired, and the wise men from the east too preoccupied with the identity of the infant to notice details which the eye of a child seized upon.

"Everything seems so quiet in the stable," he replied to questions. "I noticed that even the pigeons didn't coo like they usually do."

"Did Mary or Joseph say anything to anyone?" he was asked.

The lad flushed then confessed: "Joseph asked me to help him fix the hay so it would be more comfortable, and then Mary smiled at me after she had been looking at the baby, and so I asked her if they didn't have better places in the inn. She answered low-like: "There wasn't any room for us."

"I felt sorry for her; and then she smiled again and just whispered: "But I like it here. The inn was so noisy, and the streets are full of loud people. The animals are peaceful. You mustn't feel sorry for us."

"I still felt strange. It is as though something too wonderful to talk about has happened to me, I can't explain it. But I feel so peaceful inside."

Inn Keeper's Faith In Miracle Strengthens

BETHLEHEM, Dec. 25—Beginning of Year of Our Lord 1. — Bewilderment marked the features today of the keeper of the little inn where Mary and Joseph sought shelter last night. But behind the bewilderment could be sensed a dawning belief.

"There was something different about her face," he said of Mary. "It was tired — but different. And when Joseph turned away leading the ass she was riding, something about him too, made me want to call them back.

"I went to the stable this morning," he mused. "Only it didn't seem like the same stable somehow."

Messiah Comes Into World Torn By Internal Strife

BETHLEHEM, Dec. 25—Beginning the Year of Our Lord 1. — Christ was born last night. They say he is a King. Into a world torn with strife, into a dictator-ridden country that trembles at the clashing swords of Rome, has come the ray of light so long awaited by the troubled people.

It is a far cry from the golden pillars of Solomon's temple to the crude stalls of a cattle barn.

For hundreds of years the memories and tales of the glories of ancient Jerusalem have been treasured in the hearts of scattered race. For generations they have unrolled their papyrus scripts and reassured themselves that one day a Redeemer of Mankind would restore their kingdoms. With mighty armies He would vanquish a tyrant Caesar, and rebuild their shining city.

They thought of him in terms of shining raiment and a golden throne; they didn't expect swaddling clothes and manger hay.

They could see him proclaimed by heralds with silver trumpets; they didn't think his companions could be rough-haired oxen and sleepy-eyed goats.

They expected urns of smoldering incense, but not the aroma of a stable.

Multitudes would prostrate themselves on the ground in His presence, they believed; they didn't suppose that a harried innkeeper would suggest that the royal family sleep in the barn because all of his rooms were full of taxpayers.

Some say that this baby born last night to Mary and Joseph of Nazareth couldn't possibly be the Messiah foretold in Scriptures. But there are others who remember the words of the prophet Isaiah, of Jeremiah and of Micah and with unspeakable joy hail Him as the Saviour of Israel.

Manger Miracle Told Over and Over As Groups Collect

Herod's nature, these commentators say, makes it impossible for him to understand a Prince of Peace.

Worship Service Planned At Stadium Friday at 11

A special Christmas worship service will be held Friday, at 11 a.m. in San Diego Stadium. Featured speaker will be Spencer W. Kimball, President of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints. Theme of the service will be "Putting Christ Back in Christmas". It is open to all who wish to attend. There will be no charge or stadium parking fee, nor will donations be solicited. A crowd of 20,000 is expected.

The worship service will be held in conjunction with the first annual Holiday Bowl football game to be played in the evening. Participants will include officials and students of Brigham Young University, whose team plays Navy in the football game, as well as several San Diegans. Music will be provided by the Brigham Young University Band.

Thoughts about Christmas will be shared by Judge J. Clifford Wallace of the U.S. Court of Appeals; BYU football players Tom Miller and Tim Halvorsen; BYU President Dallin Oaks and homecoming queen Margo Jenson; and LDS Church officials Thomas S. Monson and President Kimball.

President Kimball has said, "When I think of Christmas and what it means to me, I think of the question I have often been asked — "How can I find meaning in the celebration of Christmas?" In attempting to answer this question, I seem always to revert to the same formula. First get to know Jesus Christ . . . really know Him. To do this, it is appropriate that we celebrate His birth, but also our thoughts must turn to His life. Learn everything you can about Him."

The stadium will be cleared following the service in preparation for the Holiday Bowl game.

FINISHING TOUCHES — Teresa Bacall of the San Diego Ballet, Santa Claus, and Sadie Prosser of the Spring Valley Woman's Club put the finishing touches on their "Tree of Love" which was presented to the Wilson Manner Convalescent Hospital. The presentation was part of a community service project sponsored by Wickes Furniture that brought Christmas to those who might not otherwise have a Christmas. The tree was decorated under the theme of: "UFO's: Unidentified Fired Ornaments".

James Borgner of the Sweetwater congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses will be a featured speaker at the circuit convention of Jehovah's Witnesses at the Imperial County Fairgrounds, Saturday and Sunday.

Borgner will lead a panel discussion on the subject, "Where Is Your Treasure?" 1,500 delegates will be attending from the East County and Imperial County congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses.

Highlight of the conference will be the talk, "Meeting the Test of Christian Loyalty," by W. R. Wissman, district governor of Jehovah's Witnesses, Brooklyn, New York.

Posado Feature Of Barrio Event

Candles, folk dancers and pinatas will abound at the Posada en el Barrio, Friday, 6:30 p.m. at the Padre Hidalgo Center, 2277 National ave. in San Diego.

The Posada is a candlelight procession which commemorates the Holy Family's search for a room at an inn. Joseph, Mary and the pilgrims will be represented by members of the community while carols are sung by the many people in the procession.

The procession will move from the Padre Hidalgo Center to the Paradise Senior Citizens Center, 1880 Logan ave. Then, at 7 p.m. a Mass at the Paradise Center will have Bishop Gilbert E. Chavez as its main celebrant.

The evening will conclude with folk dancing and homemade refreshments.

Wright Leaves

"My new job will pay about the same but with more take-home money. But more importantly, the chance for advancement is far greater.

"Jobs of higher rank at higher pay in the sheriff's department are mostly administrative and comparatively few. Administrative jobs require a lot of paper shuffling and I was not willing to accept a paper-shufling job if offered. That took care of chances for advancement. So the way I looked at it I had no future as a deputy."

Wright is 32. He and his wife live in El Cajon. She is employed by a car rental agency at the S.D. airport.

"I have been assigned to a night shift and my days off are different than my wife's.

"There are also problems in the department that weren't there when I first became a deputy," he said. "Morale is low — depressed in part by inability to get pay raises. Many officers have left and others are seeking employment elsewhere."

Captain George Dodson, commander of the Lemon Grove office, said personnel there is down 8 from the normal total of 41. That includes one sergeant.

"There appears to be no replacement for these people in the immediate future," he said. "The attrition rate is high and it takes many months to train a new deputy."

Sgt. Roger Jacobs said that Wright's absence took away 5 years of street intelligence, and that his replacement, when it comes, will be a rookie.

"It takes at least 2 years for a rookie to begin to function fully as a patrol officer" he noted.

Storm Brings 2.26" Rainfall

Don't tell the folks back east but December hasn't been the kind of month — climatewise — that we like to talk about.

During the present week, starting on Sunday there was rain. By days: Sunday 1.27 inches; Monday .26 and Tuesday .73 for a storm total of 2.26, bringing the season total to 6.5 inches.

The temperatures moderated to some extent during the same period. The low by days: Sunday 52 degrees; Monday 49, and Tuesday 44. Earlier in the month there was ice on puddles. Low on December 7 was 32 degrees. The next day it dropped to 29. The cold snap ended on the following day with a 33 low.

The DIMMER VIEW

The Power to Govern

All right, all you taxpayers.

You got your property taxes reduced but your bureaus are strong and healthy, thank you.

Not serving the best interests of the public, necessarily. Just strong and healthy. And it should be added, active.

Of course you remember the Department of Transportation's (DOT) National Highway Safety Traffic Administration (NHTSA). That's the bureau which decided that every driver would have to have one of those whack-bang air bags inside his car which inflates when the car's bumper activates it at accident time.

Some say the big air bag would protect the front seat occupants from injury. Others believe that the driver, with his forward vision obscured, would be saved from seeing the damage he is inflicting.

The same people who dreamed that up must certainly be the same ones who engineered the catalytic converter which is said by some neutral observers to put more pollutants in the air—and at a much higher cost—than the old-fashioned oil-fumes-to-air-cleaner device.

Now who could stay sore at a bureau that wants to save your life even if it is with high cost plastic air bags which would have a tendency to stiffen and be non-operative after a couple of years.

No logical-thinking person should complain about that either since it would only cost a couple of hundred bucks for a replacement.

Now DOT's NHTSA is going to protect you further. This time it is being done by eliminating "vehicular exterior protrusions" from the natien's automobiles.

What's a vehicular exterior protrusion? Even an idiot-type bureaucrat knows it's an auto hood ornament. Explains NHTSA, "(it) would be a cost-saving measure and would have safety implications."

And that it would do. We once heard of a lady who slapped her spouse over the head with an ornament shaped like a ram. It was popular on certain autos a few years back. He had 14 stitches taken in his scalp. That might have been the incident that convinced the regulatory world of NHTSA that hood ornaments are provably dangerous.

Saving money as a result of doing away with hood ornaments is a valid position. Not that your Cad or Mercedes will be noticeably lower in cost when you buy it. But if you had an ornament and it was stolen, you'd fine out how expensive it is to replace it.

Our personal survey after we learned of this new, consumer protection plan showed that less than 10 cars out of 100 had no ornaments. And some of those that had them were nearing the vintage stage.

So what's the DOT-NHTSA bruhaha about? To get you deeper into its bureaucratic power, proving again that the power to govern is as determined as it is awesome.

Three Men Held in Connection With Robbery of S.V. Pastor

By Randy Reed

Reverend Donald W. Tinsley was waiting in his office for a man who called and asked him for a quick wedding ceremony. The man who arrived did not want a wedding, instead they robbed Tinsley at gunpoint, and his church of over $1,000.

The robbery took place Sunday night at the Chapel of the Valley, 8318 Jamacha rd. in Spring Valley at about 8 p.m. Tinsley said he recognized one of the three men who entered his office.

"I went to shake his hand," Tinsley said. "Then I saw the gun hidden in his windbreaker."

The man recognized by Tinsley was identified as Richard Emmet Woerner, 18, of 1329 South 36th st., San Diego. According to Tinsley, Woerner had been a resident of the church's emergency shelter 7 months ago.

Two other suspects in the case were identified as Johnny Reginald Burrage, 27, a marine out of Camp Pendleton, and David J. Carson, 23, a sailor aboard the U.S.S. Jackson.

Police reports say that the man described as Woerner demanded to know where the church's bank was. (The bag contained receipts from the three prior days callections as well as a special collection held on Thursday.) According to reports, Woerner then demanded the "kitty" which included about $5 in change as well as duplicate keys to the rooms below the church.

Police reports indicated that the total loss was approximately $900. When contacted Tinsley put the figure at over $1,000. The money lost included his wife's paycheck and payment for 3 weddings earlier in the weekend.

Tinsley said that it is not unusual for people to call requesting fast weddings. He said, however, that the majority of those types of calls are usually received on Fridays and Saturdays. He also said that in most instances a return phone number is requested. In this instance, Tinsley said, the man said he was on his way, so no return phone was given.

According to the police report the Chapel houses transients and down and outs who need a place to stay. Tinsley said that Woerner was a resident of the church for about 5 weeks. Tinsley also said that he had presided over the wedding of Woerner and his wife Ramona at one time. Tinsley said that the wedding was never completed though, because Woerner did not make the payment on the wedding.

According to reports, Tinsley had been contacted 2 weeks earlier by an attorney who wanted help in securing the release of Ramona Woerner from jail. Reports say that Tinsley refused to aid the attorney.

Throughout the ordeal, Tinsley was allegedly questioned as to why he did not help the attorney get Ramona Woerner out of jail.

Tinsley said that Woerner threatened to kill him if he reported the robbery to the police. Tinsley said the threat isn't causing him to drastically change his life style, but he is "being careful."

"I've never owned a gun in my life," Tinsley said, "but I'm going to go out and buy one now."

Council Eyes Future Of San Diego's Airport

Lemon Grove's City Council Monday night spent time discussing San Diego's airport's future as it did on some 30 other items on the agenda—but it was shown by councilmen Robert Burns and Dale Bailey that the eventual location of the airport is important to Lemon Grove residents.

Bailey explained that a matter of population growth should help determine the location of the airport and if it should be moved.

Councilmen Burns and Doherty noted that the location of the airport concerned more people outside the City of San Diego than within its limits.

What was scheduled as a consideration of mobile food vehicles laws was continued to the February 5 council meeting so that members could study findings by the City of San Diego which has a similar study scheduled for early January.

Most of Monday's audience apparently was in attendance to defend use of such vehicles within the City. The group left when the study was continued.

Council made official the grant of $25,000 for the Little League park in Monterey Heights. Another $10,000, also approved, will be used on later improvements.

In other business council created the utilities underground district from Olive st. west to Massachusetts; designated Jesse Entreken, of the L.G. Fire Department as the official Chief Building Inspector to answer the requirement of the Building Code. He already has that title but now it is official; approved the final subdivision map for Berryland (24 lots) Estates in Monterey Heights; awarded a merit promotion for City Fireman David O'Dean from 3rd class to 2nd class fireman. He had passed all examinations and the promotion was recommended by Fire Chief Bob Adams; approved the request for a 5-day vacation beginning December 26 for City Manager Jack Shelver; annexed 4 small areas to the L.G. Lighting District. These are at the north side of Broadway opposite Washington; southwest corner of Washington and Broadway; North side of Imperial East of Grove (apartment), and Southwest corner of Imperial and Grove.

Manager Shelver had announced earlier that funds had been allocated for turning on all street lights in the City. Some lights, in no districts at all, had been scheduled to be darkened.

The first meeting of the new year scheduled originally for the first Monday falls on New Year's Day and has been rescheduled for Tuesday, January 2nd at 7:30 p.m.

Council meetings are held in the Community Center on School lane opposite Lemon Grove Junior High School's playgrounds. First-time visitors sometimes go first to City Hall at 3568 Main st.

Road Condition Report For Highway Travelers

CALTRANS is expanding the California Highway Information Network into Southern California to provide current road condition reports on major state highways.

The network for Southern California has currently been expanded to include San Diego, Indio and El Cento The number in San Diego is 293-3600.

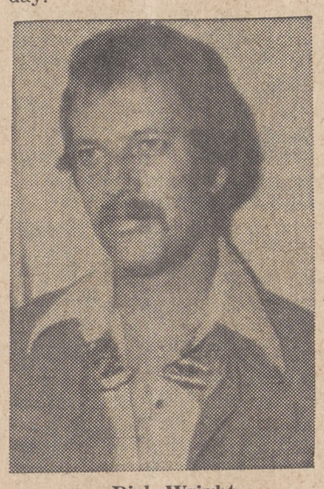
By calling the number, travelers will know what state highways are open or closed, if chains or snow tires are ndeded.

Tape recorded messages are continually updated on road conditions change and new information is transmitted from the Transportation Districts to the CALTRANS telecommunication center in Sacramento.

Wright Leaves Sheriff's Job To Fly Again

Dick Wright, a deputy assigned to the sheriff's Lemon Grove office, has joined the Hawaiian Nation Guard as an aircraft pilot.

His resignation as a peace officer became effective Friday.



Dick Wright

He takes with him 5 years of "outstanding" service according to his superiors. He assumes active flying duties in Hawaii in January.

Prior to joining the Sheriff's Department, Wright held the rank of captain as a flier with the U.S. Army. During his five years of Army servce he was promoted from warrant officer to captain. When his emergency duties were over, he was converted back to a warrant officer in the regular Army.

Wright holds a commercial, multi-engine certficate, a helicopter license and an instrument rating. "I like flying and look forward to my job in Hawaii, but I am saddened by the thoughts of leaving sheriff's department," he said.

"But things have changed. When I left the Army I had to wait a year and a half to get a job as a deputy, and no one was leaving. Now there are more openings than can be easily filled."

Wright, who has been working the Bonita-South Bay beat as patrol officer, said that his

County Triples Fees On Property Permits

A county ordinance to recover the costs involved in processing various property applications recently passed by the Board of Supervisors has tripled most fees and in one case an application fee is 700 per cent higher.

The fees, whcih became effective December 29, are mostly through the Department of Land Use and Environmental Regulation (LUER).

The greatest increase was a certificate of compliance with boundary adjustment from $25 to $175.

Many services for which there had been no charge before now are being charged as much as $150, such as the tentative map replacement.

Many of the older fees had a base plus add-ons for varying sized lots and units. The new fees are flat rates.

Rezones went from $300 base plus add-ons for additional acreage to a flat $1,250.

Major use permits were $250, now $1,250. Minor Use permits were $160, now $200.

Applications for variances which were $120 are now $200. A variance for a fence went from $40 to $50.

Other application fees effested by the ordinance are:

Agricultural preserves, $500; open space easements, $300; road openings, $500; road vacations, $500; large scale projects, $3,000, providing that if the cost of processing will exceed $3,000 the applicant shall pay an additional amount to be determined by the director of LUER.

Other fees or deposits include amendment to an adopted specific plan or private development plan, $1,250 providing that if the total cost of processing will exceed $1,250 the applicant shall pay an additional deposit as determined by the director of LUER.

Additional fees or deposits are those for tentative map, $1,300; tentative map replacement, $150; expired tentative map, $1,000; revised tentative map, $500; appeal of a tentative map, $50; time extension of tentative map, $500; amendment to tentative map resolution, $500; tentative parcel map, $380; expired, replacement or revised tentative parcel map, $75; amendment of tentative parcel map approval, $50; tentative parcel map time extension, $75; boundary adjustment, $60; certificate of compliance with boundary adjustment, $175; appeal to the Board of Planning and Zoning Appeals or Board of Supervisors, $50.

Costs of copies of documents are as follows: up to 8½ by 14, 10 cents each; 8½ by 15 to 11 by 17, 50 cents each; 11 by 17 to 18 by 24. $1 each; and larger than 18 by 24, $2 each.

2 New Motels on Broadway Bid for Local Tourism

For almost 14 years, Daisy Smith and her husband have operated the only motel in Lemon Grove. Their 11 unit Grove Motel has often had vacancies, she says. But now, two new motels are under construction, and their owners feel there is a definite market for motels in Lemon Grove.

EZ 8 Motel chain spokesman Paul Potter says (The Lemon Grove) community is big enough" to accomodate the motels.

Smith feels differently. "The business here is not that strong," she said. "Some nights we have 2, 3 or 4 empty units. That should tell you something (about the need for more rooms.)"

The two new motels which are currently under construction are large compared with the Grove Motel. Oak Inn Motel at Broadway and Corona, will house 64 units while the E-Z8 motel at 7458 Broadway will accomodate 40.

Smith compares the two new motels with gas stations. "You can get too many of them," she said. She feels though, that these two new motels don't have much to worry about if they falter. "If they fall down, it's a tax write off," she said.

The Smiths are not bothered by the new competition and they have no plans to give up their business. "We love Lemon Grove. This is our home.

Both of the new motels call themselves budget operations The Oak Inn is expected to be completed within 2 weeks. The E-Z8 is planning for a February opening.

$2 Head Lettuce Warning False; Imperial Crops Alive and Well

The California lettuce crop is alive and well and being harvested normally in the Imperial Valley, grower representatives told the Council of California Growers.

Ron Hull, manager of the Imperial Valley Vegetable Growers Assn., and Les Hubbard, spokesman for Western Growers Assn., were quick to dispel reports of severe crop damage issued last week.

Meanwhile, growers of avacados, citrus, artichokes and other commodities are still assessing damage caused by eral days of sub-normal temperatures and wind. In some cases, the cold snap of 2 weeks ago has actually been beneficial.

Media reports on lettuce damage — including one dispatch that said retail prices would reach $2 a head because of short supplies — caused a flurry of phone calls to the vegetable growers' associations and the Imperial County Agricultural Commissioner's office. "We even had a call from the Four Seasons salad dressing people back east," said Claude M. Finnell, the Agricultural Commissioner. "They were afraid there wasn't going to be any lettuce to put their products on."

Hull and Finnell said they were doing their best to dispel the reports, which they said were "completely false."

Hull explained that in the early part of the lettuce season there was an infestation of the tobacco budworm, an insect that eats away at the lettuce from the inside of the head. It has been controlled through pesticide application.

"We lived through that crisis with a minimum of damage and there were no noticeable interuption in consumer supply," Hall said. "Then we had about 3 days of frost, which delayed cutting and reduced quality for a brief period.

"At most lettuce prices in the stores increased by a dime, but they're back down and if everything remains normal, there should be a plentiful supply at reasonable prices from now on."

Premature reports also were issued on damage to other crops during the cold spell. In some cases, the damage estimates were exaggerated, the Council was told.

The California Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said the state's avocado crop suffered "spotty" damage. The Ventura County area was hardest hit with the possibility of a 33 per cent loss of the harvest. San Diego County Agricultural Commissioner Ken Little said it appeared that 8-10 per cent of the county's avocado production was affected by the cold wather, particularly the younger trees.

The Crop and Livestock Service report said lemon damage across the state was light, most of it occurring in the Central Valley with some losses in desert areas.

There was a significant loss to Navel oranges, particularly in the Central Valley, but exact figures won't be known for several weeks, the report said.

The hardest hit crop appear to be artichokes with loss o the current harvest describe as "unshippable," according t the report.

In San Diego County Littl said Tomato growers wer winding down their winte harvest and what was left o the crop was in poor shape.

"We have so many differer weather patterns, it's difficu to make generalizations o damage, but there were som individual growers who wer hit hard and others virtuall unaffected," Little said. As a example, he said that vegeta bles in the Otay Mesa are near the Mexican border wer hardly touched by the fros But in the lower elevations o the Tia Juana river valle only a few miles from th mesa, there were significan losses.

On the positive side grower of deciduous fruits, apricots peaches and pears, welcome the cold weather because i puts the orchards in a do mant state. The cold was als generally beneficial to straw berries and grapes, the cro reporet said.

L.G. Gets $120,524 In Sales Tax Funds

The State has marked up a record income in the third quarter distributions of local sales and use tax funds.

More than $158.7 million was distributed to California cities and counties in the December distribution of the funds. The funds represent the cleanup payments and the first advance payment for the 4th 1978 quarter.

Of the 14 San Diego County cities, Lemon Grove got the 9th highest amount — $120,-524.00. Those getting less than Lemon Grove were: Vista-$114,949; San Marcos—$92,545 Imperial Beach — $28,734; De Mar—$20,964, and Coronado-$50,620.

$2,191,779 for the County Local Transportation Fund went to San Diego County in addition to $864,41 sales and use tax funds.

Only Los Angeles ($9,67,433 and Orange ($2,908,326) Counties recevied more Transportation Funds than did San Diego.

Andy North

Champ Gave up Crutches, Cart

When U.S. Open golf champion Andy North competes here Jan. 24-28 in the Andy Williams San Diego Open at Torrey Pines he will walk the course as required by PGA rules.

But this strapping 6-4, 210-pound gifted athlete learned the game riding in a golf cart, contrary to the way every other youngster takes up golf.

A standout in contact sports from an early age, North had to give them up and spend 18 months in bed and on crutches because of the bones in his left knee quit developing. When he began to recover, his doctor told him he could take up golf only if he rode in a cart.

With the help of pro Lee Gillikan, eighth-grader Andy picked up some impressive strokes while wheeling his cart aroud the Nakoma CC in Madison, Wisc. Enough strokes to get a scholarship at the U. of Florida, make All American and eventually qualify for the pro tour in 1972.

North's golf course walking career reached its pinnacle last summer at Cherry Hills CC in Denver when he pitched out of a bunker to within 4 feet of the cup, then calmly sunk his putt for a bogey five that gove him the U.S. Open title by a stroke over Dave Stockton and J. C. Sneed.

The fact that landing in the sand on his third shot of the treacherous 72nd hole did not make him is typical of North, the cool character under fire. The 28-year-old Wisconsin product prides himself on avoiding the emotional highs and lows in competition.

He trains for these crises in play-for-blood practice competitions with his close friend, Tom Watson, in which they bet on who can make the low-shot fade or the highest draw. North's coolness under fire has paid off well since his first full year on tour in 1973. After barely missing the top 60 and a year's exemption, he finished 46th in 1974, then bound up in 3rd, 37th, 18th and 8th in subsequent seasons. His first tour win was the lucrative American Express Westchester Classic in 1977, but he is often in the top 10.

TAKE FIVE

by John E. Wirges

You can figure it to be a sight to behold. The last minute havoc of Christmas shopping, the massive disorder of pre-holiday, going home traffic and the more than 50,000 football fans converging on San Diego Stadium from all directions almost at the same time.

The traffic tie-up could be a world's record. If it wasn't so damn maddening, you could actually sit back and enjoy knowing you've done your share to bring miles of modern freeway to a complete and total standstill.

Friday night. As the clock approaches 6. Can't you just see shoppers wielding their final pay-checks before Christmas, battling to assault salespersons and each other (and incidently, any innocent bystander who happens to get caught in the squeeze) going mano-a-mano with end-of-the-week-going home-traffic and diehard, dedicated Holiday Bowl fans manning oars at battle stroke to overcome the tide of massed humanity and gain the stadium before a 6 p.m. kickoff.

The sheer frustration of it ought to be a beaut. There is no known force on earth that can keep M'lady from the bargain counter in the last hours of buying time in the closing days of the Christmas season.

However, there is equally no known force or power to turn the tide of traffic flooding the rivers of cement that carries wave after wave of tired workers home at the close of the laboring week.

Then there are the merry makers, the cheering throng of spirited fandom, plowing through the early evening dusk to bear witness to the inaugural Holiday Bowl festivities.

It all adds up to one helluva, snarling, honking, cussing, yelling free-for-all that will give the California Highway Patrol and San Diego's "finest" good cause not to back up to the payline next time their eagle flies.

Of course, some of the hootin' and hollerin' will be coming from scores of smug, self-satisfied sages who have already earned sanctuary in the stadium The early birds. The get-there-two-hours-before-game-time-and-munch-a-late-lunch-bunch, will get bent out of shape telling themselves how smart they are.

They'll roar with laughter as they lean against their tailgates making unkind comments directed toward the drivers of tied up traffic stalled on Friars Road, Murphy Canyon Road and Interstate-8. Those early arrivers will be relaxed and in suitable holiday frames of mind, toasting a toddy or two toward honking, grim-faced late comers. You could hate 'em in a hurry.

It will be cool on Friday evening. Cool and dry and clear and delightful, according to weatherman Bill Exley of the U.S. Weather Service.

"Look for a few scattered clouds with a high in the upper 60s and an overnight low in the mid-40s," he prognosticated. "A perfect night for football."

Not to mention shopping or driving home after a week's heavy labor. But fun is not in just the doing, it's also in the manner of execution. A little pre-planing can really create happiness.

Just ask the early arrivals, enjoying a hot bite and a cooling drink served from their friendly tailgate in near complete relaxation when you finally clear the entrance gate and start your mad search for an unused parking space.

It really leaves me with a question. If God created all men equal, how come so many folks are so much smarter than me?

California Surf Opens Sockers 1979 Season

The San Diego Sockers will open their 1979 North American Soccer League season with two home games; one against their closest rival, the California Surf; and one against the league champion New York Cosmos.

Sockers general manager/vice president Marvin Milkes said that more than 5,000 season seats sold (up from 750 in '78), the league Owners' Meetings will be held in February, and now we have the league champions at the start of our season. Everything points towards a very successful season."

Saturday, March 24, will be the regular season opener for coach Hubert Vogelsinger's defending Western Division champions when they meet the Surf at San Diego Stadium. These two teams met 3 times in 1978, with the Sockers taking a 2-1 edge in the series which included the opening round playoff win in San Diego. The Socks outscored California 6-3 in the three games.

The New York Cosmos will return to San Diego for the first time since 1976, to face the Sockers on Saturday, March 31 in San Diego Stadium. The Cosmos will be highly favored to win their third consecutive league title, and they are the first team in the league's history to win back-to-back championships.

New York literally placed the NASL in the international soccer limelight with the signing of some of the world's finest players. On the 1979 roster will be Giorgio Chinaglia, twice the league's leading scorer and currently third place on the NASL's All-Time Scoring List. World class players Franz Beckenbauer, Germany, and Carlos Alberto, Brazil, have each captained a World Cup championship team.

3 QB's Win HoF Awards

3 quarterbacks, professional Dan Fouts and amateurs Mark Halda and Tony Ricciardulli, have been chosen November Stars of the Month by the San Diego Hall of Champions Breitbard Athletic Awards Committee.

Fouts figured prominently in the resurgence of the San Diego Chargers, and his passing led them to three November victories. By the end of the month he had connected on 165 of 284 tosses for 2,082 yards and a season touchdown mark of 11 touchdowns to rank sixth among National Football League throwers.

Despite San Diego State's losing season, Halda had a succession of fine individual performances, clicking on 205 of 358 passes for 2,262 yards and 14 touchdowns. That record put him third in NCAA statistics.

Ricciardulli collected just about every available honor while quarterbacking Mesa College, including junior college football's most coveted prize, the Joe Roth Memorial Award. By completing 163 of 307 throws for 2,130 yards and 18 touchdowns he was tabbed the South Coast Conference's offensive player of the year, and he also set a conference mark with 29 completions in a single game.

cross country team of Steve Ortiz, Rick Rose, Marc Kel-Ortiz,(Rick Rose, Marc Keller, Matt Leddy and Mike Lohr was voted a Certificate of Achievement for capturing its 7th straight California State title.

Basketball Sign-Ups Held at Local YMCA

Youth Basketball League Sign-Ups are now being held at the Copley Family YMCA in East San Diego. Youngsters will have an opportunity to sign up for the '79 YBA Basketball season.

Boys and girls ages 8-14 will be accepted for YBA competition at the "Y" on a first-come, first-served basis. Registration will be limited to 50 youngsters.

"Following registration, players will be assigned to teams and leagues. Every boy and girl who signs up will be on a team and will play. Practice will begin January 1979, with league play to begin January 1979," Steve Rios, Associate Program Director, said.

YBA, sponsored jointly by the YMCA and the NBA Players Association, is the first youth sports program open equally to boys and girls.

To register for YBA basketball, call the Copley YMCA at 283-2251.

Pistons Here Tuesday To Give Clippers Test

The Detroit Pistons test the explosive San Diego Clippers Tuesday, January 2 at the Sports Arena at 7:05 p.m. with the Clippers still smarting from a 120-113 Piston win on the same court exactly one month ago.

The Clippers started fast in that one and owned a 26-14 lead midway through the first quarter. Coach Gene Shue's squad still was on top 42-35 at the quarter break and held a slim 67-63 halftime advantage.

The Pistons, however, grabbed a 92-89 third quarter lead and finally prevailed by the seven-point 120-113 margin.

Terry Tyler and John Long, both players for Piston coach Dick Vitale when all three were at the University of Detroit, were top scorers for the Pistons in that earlier contest.

Tyler whipped in 27 points, in addition to snaring 10 rebounds, and Long was good for 23 points for the fiesty Pistons.

Kermit Washington turned in a solid performance for the Clippers with 25 points, 13 refounds, and 4 blocked shots, while Randy Smith supplied 25 points of offense for San Diego.

Detroit's performance was even more impressive when it is remembered the Pistons turned in that earlier triumph minus the services of all-star center Bob Lanier.

Although his status is not definite for the January 2 meeting, it is anticipated that Lanier may have recovered sufficiently from his ailing left knee to participate.

Tickets for the Detroit game are $9, $8, $6, and $4 and are available at all arena ticket outlets, and at the Sports Arena box office.

Four New Sites Added To Unlimited Hydros

The Unlimited Racing Commission (URC) has awarded the nationally televised A.P.B.A. Gold Cup for Unlimited hydroplanes to the historic Ohio River town of Madison, Indiana, for the second time in 10 years. The season will again end in San Diego's Mission Bay in September.

George Byers, Jr., prominent Columbus transportation executive who won re-election as Unlimited Racing Commissioner for a 9th consecutive term, announced the selection during the organization's annual meeting at Madison.

"The economic impact of major new host cities, development of new racing equipment, and organization of new teams underscores the growth of our sport since the Unlimited Racing Commission was established as a division of the American Power Boat Assn. 20 years ago," Byers said.

He reported strong interest on the part of major new Unlimited hydroplane race sponsors and said that his staff has investigated more prospective new race sites during the past 12 months than any time in the past 10 years.

As chief executive officer for URC, Byers will direct a 10-race circuit in 1979, highlighted by the A.P.B.A. Gold Cup, scheduled July 9 on the Ohio River at Madison. The race will be televised on CBS Sports Spectacular for the fourth consecutive year and is expected to draw over 100,000 fans to Madison.

An aggressive search to develop new markets for the sport has resulted in the addition of 4 sites for 1979—Evansville, Ind.; El Dorado/Wichita, Ks.; Long Beach, Calif. and Salt Lake City. The expansion program is the culmination of two years of intensive study directed by Commissioner Byers.

The 1979 Unlimited hydroplane season kicks off with the 10th annual Champion Spark Plug Regatta at the City of Miami Marine Stadium June 4, followed by the inaugural Evansville, Ind. regatta June 24. Detroit hosts the Spirit of Detroit Regatta July 1 and the A.P.B.A. Gold Cup is scheduled July 8 in Madison.

The inaugural El Dorado Bluestem Thunderboat Regatta will be run on Lake Bluestem in El Dorado / Wichita July 29.

The Pacific Northwest thunderboat tour includes the Columbia Cup at Tri-Cities, Washington July 29 and the Squire Shop Regatta on Seattle's Lake Washington August 5.

Long Beach will host its first Unlimited hydroplane race as part of the Sea Festival on Saturday, August 25 and the Circus-Circus Thunderboat Regatta for Golden Spike Trophy will be held on Willard Bay (Ogden) at Salt Lake City September 2. The 1979 season concludes with the Jack-In-The-Box Thunderboats Unlimited Regatta September 16 on Mission Bay in San Diego.

Allison Wants Year's First Double Major Motor Victory

RIVERSIDE — Ironman Bobby Allison will try once more to score a double victory in the year's first major motor racing weekend at Riverside International Raceway Jan. 13-14.

Allison will drive in both the $155,000 Winston Western 500 and the companion Stock Car Products 300 NASCAR stock car races.

Although he has won more races in his career at different tracks than most veteran drivers ever see in their lifetimes, the Hueytown, Ala., superspeedway hero harbors the regret that he has not yet won the "Saturday race" at Riverside.

"A few times I've been competitive," Allison said, "but I guess you've noticed I haven't won yet."

He will drive an AMC Concord built in the Modesto shops of Ivan Baldwin, a former Stock Car Products 300 winner, in the "Saturday race" and Bud Moore's '78 Thunderbird in the 500-kilometer feature event on Sunday—a race he won in 1975 and has scored 3 second-place finishes in.

In fact, Allison's appearances in the 2 Riverside races wil be his 37th and 38th races here and will make him the all-time champion in terms of racing experience at Riverside.

Allison is currently tied with Richard Petty with 36 previous Riverside races in their logbooks. Bobby has won 4 of them, 2 NAPA 400 stock car races and 2 victories in the International Race of Champions series.

The "Saturday race" has been acclaimed by fans as just as competitive as the Winston Western 500, and the field for the upcoming 300-kilometer sprint appears to give it a lot more frontrunners than ever before.

Planning to enter are such West Coast stars as Hershel McGriff, Jimmy Insolo, Jim Walker, Vince Kiamformaggio and the new young sensation, Tim Williamson.

Stock Car Products 300 entrants will assemble for the first time at the Raceway on Saturday, January 6, for practice. Qualifying for the $20,000 event will be the next day.

The Raceway will reopen on Thursday, January 11, for Winston Western 500 practice. Pole qualifying day will be Friday, followed by the 2 races on the weekend.

Tickets are on sale at the Raceway and all Ticketron outlets.

Miss L.G. Contest

The 1979 edition of the Miss Lemon Grove contest has been set for April 21. It will again be sponsored by the Lemon Grove Rotary Club.

Application will be available at the office of the Homeland Publishing Co., 7834 Lester ave., Lemon Grove sometime in January.

Provo KO's Miera At 1:20 in First Of 10-Rounder

Eugene Miera, a lightheavyweight boxer out of Hawthorne lasted only 1 minute and 20 seconds into the first round of a fight scheduled for 10 at the San Diego Coliseum Friday night.

Lenie Provo, a San Diego Marine sergeant, dropped Miera with left hooks, and repeated the attack after Miera took an 8 count. Miera got up again but he was unable to continue. Frank Rustich stopped the fight before Provo could get to him again.

Miera, who beat Ronnie Wilson last month in the same ring, was being watched as a "comer," but he didn't have an opportunity to show anything after the first minute.

Provo suffered his only pro fight loss to Wilson late last summer.

Earlier, in the same ring, Miera had been presented with the Sportsman of the Year Award.

Each year, as the year ends, promoter Danny Millsap makes awards to outstanding fighters who have performed well at the Coliseum.

Bert Lee, of Campo, was awarded the Prospect of the Year trophy; Ernie Fuentes got the Matchmaker Award and Ronnie Wilson and Lennie Provo got companion awards for the Best Fight of the Year.

The card opened Friday night with a pair of well-trained boxers going the 10-round schedule. Middleweight Steve Delgado of Las Vegas won a unanimous decision over Terry Sanders of L.A.

Delgado is now trained by Eddie Futch, former trainer of Kenny Norton. Delgado was All-Service champion for 3 years. Sanders was '78-'79 AAU middleweight champion. He is the chief sparring partner of Champion Carlos Palomino.

Futch said, prior to the fight, that Delgado was the best prospect he'd seen in years. "He's a cinch to be champion," the greying trainer said.

Mike Rundell, of San Diego, now 8-1-1 with 5 KO's to his credit won a unanimous decision over Lala Hernandez, of L.A.

Boxing will return in January but the date and card has not been set. Professional wrestling returns on January 9.

Tee Winners To Compete In AWSDOpen

San Diego's pro golfing contingent, coming off a banner 1978 season on tour, will be out in full force for the Andy Williams Open golf tournament Jan. 24-28 at Torrey Pines.

Led by Lon Hinkle, who won at New Orleans and finished 16th in earnings with $138,388, the group includes five others exempt from qualifying during 1979 by virtue of making the top 60 on the money list.

They are Jack Renner, 33rd; John Schroeder, 40th; Craig Stadler, 48th, Vic Regaldo, 50th; and Gene Littler, 59th.

Littler and another golf immortal who grew up in this area, Billy Casper, will compete here under a variety of other exemptions from qualifying such as being former U.S. Open champions, winners of the old San Diego Open, and fourth and seventh respectively in career earnings.

Renner, 22, finished in the money in 21 out of 28 events and earned $73,996 in a sensational rookie year.

Schroeder made his 11th year on tour his most lucrative by winning $70,707. It was his third time in the top 60.

Stadler had six top 10 finishes and won $63,486 in this third and best year on tour. He is a former U.S. Amateur Champion.

Regalado won $62,621 in his sixth year on tour aided by a first place in the Quad Cities Open worth $30,000. Littler's $55,576 put him in the top 60 for the 24th time out of 25 years, having missed out in 1972 because of serious illness. ed from this area include Jack Spradlin, Cesar Sanudo, Morris Hatalsky and Tommy Jacobs.

2 Home Games Close Out Year For S.D. Hawks

There's a hockey Santa Claus after all.

When the Hawks play Spokane Christmas Night, all youngsters, 12 and under, will be given upper level seats for one dollar—a most fitting arrangement for a Christmas activity.

Spokane is the league leader and the Hawks still eye first place, regardless of setbacks they have suffered until recently. It should be a cracker-jack of a game.

Then, on December 28, with the Roadrunners back in town, the Hawks mark the week of the amateur hockey tournament held at the House of Ice in El Cajon.

As a Salute to Amateurs, a non-tourney game will be played at the Arena immediately following the professional one.

Gametime is 7:30. Tickets are $3.50 and $5.50. Parking is free.

HB-I Kickoff 6 P.M. Friday To Full House

They'll be getting in the traffic lanes for the Holiday Bowl game as early at 3:30 Friday afternoon.

Mixed in will be the shopping center bunch.

Sadly missing will be the ones who didn't get tickets to HB-I and now, according to Holiday Bowl Game officials there are none.

Navy is 8-3; BYU 9-3. Odds on the outcome are even.

Kickoff Friday as at 6 p.m. with Brigham Young and the U.S. Navy teams as antagonists.

Tickets are available through scalpers—some of whom are advertising in the newspapers. There is a tinge of freneticism among some because HB-I has not become traditional like the Rose, Super and other Bowls.

Those who can't attend the game may hear it on radio KOGO with Ron Reina and Paul Blum. It will be telecast on Ch. 39 on a delayed basis.

Seniors Hold Potluck

The La Mesa Senior Citizens Club will hold a potluck lunch Thursday, December 28 at the church meeting hall, 4100 Massachusetts ave.

Games will begin at 11:30 a.m. with lunch at noon.

Candlelight Service At Adventist Church Features Youth Choir

The Heartland Adventist Children's Choir under the direction of John Hebbel will perform at the 4th Annual Christmas Candlelight Service at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the La Mesa Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Also featured will be the San Diego Academy elementary grade choir under the direction of Donetta Utt and an instrumental trio.

Saturday morning at 11 the Chancel Choir will present "The Song of Christmas" by Roy Ringwald. The program is the story of the Nativity as told in Christmas songs.

The church is at 4207 Spring st., La Mesa.

FISHING HAS IT 2½ TO 1

Statistics show that 53.9 million people engage in fishing and 20.6 million are hunters.

Ray Bradbury Set To Attend Opening

"The Wonderful Ice Cream Suit" by Ray Bradbury opens tonight at 8:30 p.m. at Southwestern College Mayan Theatre.

Bradbury will be attending the performance this evening with his family and a reception at Southwestern College will be held in his honor after the show. Those interested in attending this evening are urged to call for reservations.

Director Larry Swerdlove of California-Pacific Theatre has been able to cast the production as Bradbury had written the play with six local Chicano actors in the leading roles and a majority of minority actors in the cast. Cast as the six out-of-luck barrio friends who combine together to buy a white summer suit which they believe will make all their dreams come true are John Padilla, Gregorio Ruiz, Jr., Chava Burgeno, Larry T. Baza, Joey Garcia and Richard Najera.

Sets and lights are designed by California-Pacific Theatre's resident designer, Jeff Darby and sound designed by Ray Swedenburg. Original Latin-Afro-Cuban music will be performed by Jesse Nieto and choreographer, Silvia, Cortez, is creating dynamic salsa dancing.

Christmas Pleasantry -- Under the Mistletoe Kiss

To most people, mistletoe means an excuse to steal a kiss at Christmas time. But that's just one of many traditions that have been associated with this curious, parasitic plant, according to the current issue of National Wildlife magazine.

"For centuries, people all over the world have considered mistletoe to be a charm against disease, witchcraft, and infertility," says the bimonthly publication of the National Wildlife Federation. Mistletoe superstitions probably came about because of the unusual and rather eerie way in which the plant grows.

Mistletoe flourishes in clumps on the trunks and branches of various hardwood trees, where it robs its host tree of water and nutrients. Often, the host tree is so weakened that it dies. But since mistletoe can produce its own food when necessary, the parasite remains green and moist.

Because they were unable to explain how mistletoe grew, ancient civilizations believed the plant had supernatural powers, says National Wildlife. Peasants in both England and Japan believed that barren women would be able to conceive after eating mistletoe. The Walos of Africa attached mistletoe leaves to their bodies, confident that they would be protected from injury. The Swedes carved sword handles from mistletoe branches to ward off witches, while other Europeans wore mistletoe corsages to guarantee a successful hunt.

Mistletoe is not a very tasty plant. In fact, although there are more than a thousand varieties throughout the world, only one animal—the tiny Australian mistletoe bird—relies solely on mistletoe for food. But medical history reveals that despite its taste, mistletoe was often fed to ailing patients by physicians who thought it had curative powers.

French physicians used mistletoe as an antidote for poisons. And one 17th century British physician observed that the plant is "good for the grief of itch, sores, toothache, and the biting of mad dogs and venomous beasts."

Even as late as the mid-1700's, National Wildlife reports, many Europen medical authorities thought mistletoe would cure epilepsy. Since mistletoe attaches itself so firmly to a tree that it cannot be blown down, they reasoned, an epileptic could not fall down if he consumed the plant regularly.

As it was thought that mistletoe possessed magical power's it's not surprising that the plant was long forbidden in Christian churches. It was thought to be tainted with heathenism. But the Druids—the woodsy priests of the ancient Celts—considered mistletoe to be a warm refuge for the woodland spirits during the cold weather.

They gathered and hung the plant throughout their dwellings. This primeval practice may be the origin of the western tradition of decorating homes with greenery at Christmas time.

Centuries ago, on the sixth day of a new moon, a white-robed priest armed with a golden sickle could be seen harvesting mistletoe. The Druids believed the plant was too sacred to be collected by just anyone. Traditions change, of course, and today anyone willing to venture out into the woods can gather mistletoe with a pair of pruning shears.

But some traditions change very little. A kiss under the mistletoe dates all the way back to Norse mythology, which dedicated mistletoe to the Goddess of Love.

Sheriff Warns To Look Out For Con Artists

The Christmas season brings not only good will among men, but the con artists as well, Sgt. Art Hauer of the Sheriff's Fraud Unit warns.

"One of the frequently used holiday frauds is the 'unordered merchandise' scam," he said.

He explained that in this scheme merchandise is mailed to someone who did not order it, then they are billed.

"Federal Trade Commission regulations prohibit mailing of unordered merchandise, except for free samples and items mailed by charitable organizations soliciting contributions. Which means the recipient may use the merchandise in any way he chooses and the sender may not bill them," Sgt. Hauer said.

The unordered C.O.D. fraud works differently and F.T.C. regulations do not cover this activity.

"In this one, merchandise is delivered and the delivery person gives the impression that the package is probably a surprise Christmas gift ordered by a member of the family. This causes many people to pay for and accept the merchandise. Once this is done, it is extremely difficult to get a refund and even harder to press criminal charges," he warned.

"The best protection against these ripoffs is to keep other members of the family informed of merchandise that is ordered which will require the payment on delivery," he said

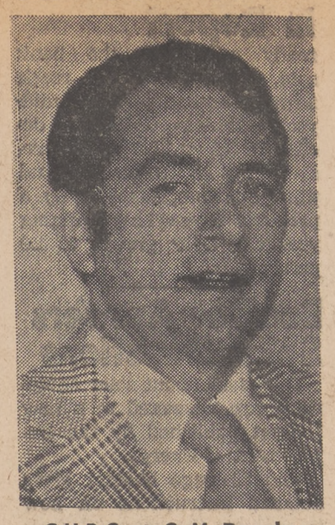
Ask Your C.H.P.



C.H.P Capt. C. M. Douglas

Last week, Capt. Douglas discussed the use of fog lights, fire extinguishers, and parking lights. In this week's column he explains the use of turn signals and when to stop for pedestrians in crosswalks.

If you have a question, no matter how insignificant it may appear to you, ask it. It could save your life—or at least save you a citation.

Address your questions to this newspaper and allow several weeks for your question to appear.

Everyday I see drivers turn without using their signals. Exactly when are you required to give a signal by law?

The law requires you to give a signal anytime you move right or left on a roadway when that movement may affect the movement of any other vehicle. This includes lane changes and anytime you move from a direct course, even though the other vehicle may be stopped at a stop sign.

I am confused about when I have to stop for a pedestrian in a crosswalk. Do I have to stop as they step off the curb or when?

The law states that a vehicle shall yield to a pedestrian crossing a roadway within a crosswalk, and that a pedestrian shall not suddenly leave the curb and walk or run into the path of a vehicle which is so close as to constitute an immediate hazard. This may still seem confusing. But a good rule to follow is to stop for a pedestrian if your continued movement would pose an immediate hazard to their crossing. In short, if a pedestrian steps off the curb and begins to cross at a time when traffic is given ample time to stop, and you fail to yield, which causes the pedestrian to stop, you are in violation.

Prediction of Rise in Inflation Given in Report

The U.S. Economy may enter a mild recession in 1979 but is expected to pick up momentum later in the year, according to a Bank of America economic report issued recently.

"The U.S. economy is at a turning point," the bank said it is Economic Outlook 1979—U.S. Report. "Whether the economy will merely slow down in 1979 or slide into a recession will be determined largely by the future path of inflation and the effects of the Carter Administration's policies."

The bank's economists expect inflation — "the most serious problem facing the U.S. economy" — to persist at a rate of about 7.5 percent in 1979.

Real growth of only 1.9 percent is seen in the U.S. Gross National Product, the total value of all goods and services produced.

"If history is a reliable guide," the bank said, a recession — a mild one — would seem to be in prospect. In the past, when the economy has slowed to levels of real growth below an annual rate of two percent, a recession usually has ensued."

If a recession occurs, however, it will probably be a short one, the bank said, adding: "The types of excesses that have tended to deepen earlier recessions are less evident now than in the past. Businesses have controlled inventories, government is making new efforts to dampen spending, the U.S. balance of payments is improving and the housing industry has been bolstered by new access to funds."

An economic slowdown is already underway, the bank said. It is expected to reach its most critical period in mid-year, when real GNP could decline to 0.6 and 0.4 percent respectively in the second and third quarters, followed by a probable upswing bringing year-long GNP growth to 1.9 percent.

Admissions Open At Southwestern

Applications for admission to Southwestern College for the spring semester are now being accepted at the Admissions Office. Classes begin January 17 with registration starting January 8.

Prospective students must file an application prior to receiving an appointment for registration.

"Students applying early receive an early registration date" Dr. John Klein, Dean of Admissions & Records, said. "This often provides students more opportunity to enroll in classes of their choice."

The College Admissions Office is open Monday through Thursday, 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., and Friday 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Class schedules have been mailed to all residents of the district. Copies are also available at the Admissions Office.

New Housing Starts Up in California

LOS ANGELES—New housing starts in California increased in October to a seasonally adjusted rate of 215,000 units, Bank of America reported.

The rate was up 5.9 per cent from 203,000 starts the previous month and 1.9 per cent higher than the rate of 211,000 starts in October 1977.

A bank economist said, however, that actual California housing starts for the first 10 months of this year amounted to 197,722 units— a decrease of 8.6 per cent from 216,277 units in the same 1977 period.

Apartment unit starts in the first 10 months of 1978 showed an increase of 17.2 per cent over the comparable 1977 period. Single family units were down 12.5 per cent.

Mass Resignation Spurs Employee Assoc. Dismay

Calling the Board of Supervisors penny-wise and pound-foolish, Randall M. Prevo, manager of the county's 12,000 employees association, expressed dismay over the mass resignation of the county employee relations panel recently.

The five member panel resigned when the supervisors voted against continuing to pay them a $50 fee a meeting per member and $100 for meetings over 4 hours.

This summer the supervisors in an economy move voted to cut not only the employee relations panel stipends, but also those of 5 other agency advisory boards as well as the Noise Control Hearing Board, the Commission on the Status of Women and the Juvenile Justice Commission.

The employee relations panel appealed this decision but the supervisors could not be swayed last week.

"It's one more example of this county's refusal to respond to the needs of its already troubled work force," Prevo said.

The panel's resignation left the association with several matters hanging that require action by the panel. These include social services suipervisors representation election, final action on a petition for modification of a bargaining unit, and other matters which only the panel is constituted to conclude, Prevo claims.

The employee relations panel must certify all elections held by the association in the collective bargaining process.

Labor-relations attorney for the CEA, Chris Ashcraft, said the supervisors had been repeatedly embarrassed by the panel, most recently over a dispute whether hourly and temporary employees were members of the bargaining unit and thus entitled to a grievance procedure.

The panel is not an advisory commission in the usual sense, Prevo said. It was set up under the state law governing public-sector employee relations and is invested with powers decisive in improved relations, he said.

The members of the panel were quality members skilled in the personnel field, Prevo said.

"They're throwing that all away to save the county $6,000 a year," he said.

To choose a panel member, all registered employee organizations submit mutually agreed-upon names to the Board of Supervisors for ratification. CEA fears the supervisors do not understand this and may try to appoint whomever they want, Prevo said.

CHP May Seek Anatomical Gift Card in Fatals

CHP Area Commander C. M. Douglas said that all California Highway Patrol officers have now been informed about an amendment to the Uniform Anatomical Gift Act, effective January 1 which provides that peace officers may search a deceased person or property surrounding the deceased for the purpose of locating a Uniform Anatomical Donor Card.

Death of the person must be the result of a traffic accident for the new law to apply to CHP officers, Craig said.

The California Vehicle Code requires the Department of Motor Vehicles to provide stickers which may be affixed to the back of driver licenses and identification cards by which licensees may indicate their willingness and intent to make an anatomical gift upon death.

Douglas said procedures have been established for CHP officers to notify the coroner immediately when a deceased traffic accident victim is identified as an anatomical donor.

After-Christmas List of Events At S.D. Museum

The Natural History Museum will be offering an after-Christmas week of activities for local residents beginning Tuesday, December 26.

Walt Disney films and an Orson Wells narrated documentary on King Tut will be part of the offerings daily at the museum. Show times begin at 12:30 p.m. and 2:30 p.m. in the museum auditorium.

Children are admitted free and adult admission is included in the $1 adult entrance fee.

The movie week will end December 30.

The museum is also scheduling four nature walks through San Diego parks during this week.

Scheduled twice each day, the mile-long walks will start at 10 a.m. and at 1 p.m. and take about an hour and a half to complete.

The walks will be led by Helen Chamlee, lecturer, columnist and native plant authority, who leads monthly park walks for the museum.

The first walks begin Tuesday, December 26.

All walks are free and open to the public. The phone is 239-8161.

ADULTERY? — They were only joking, weren't they? These 2 innocent locking people, Kirk Scott as Paul anl Jan Leverenz as Anne, are contemplating adultery and that means comedy in "6 Rms Riv Vu." The show is now playing at the Fiesta Dinner Theatre, 9665 Campo rd. in Spring Valley. Reservations can be made by calling 697-8977.

6 Rms Riv Vu at Fiesta Is Truly a Fun Affair

The Fiesta Dinner Theatre has opened a delightful production of Bob Randall's play "6 Rms Riv Vu."

The story is about 2 strangers who through a fluke, are locked in an empty New York apartment. Boy meets girl etc., but—what makes this story interesting to those of us in the 25-50-year-old range is that these 2 were married (to others of course) and it is their first daliance from respectability. They have reached midlife and are wondering if the world is passing them by in this permissive age.

What could have been a seedy little affair is treated with great humor and compassion by Randall.

It takes those of us who have seen the television version starring Carol Burnett and Alan Alda a few minutes to get into the thing—but the lead players, Kirk Scott as Paul and Jan Leverenz as Anne, are flawless in their timing and they move the pace along swiftly.

Things bog down when supporting players enter, noticeably a young pregnant mother played by Susan Schneider and her husband played by Byron Teegarden, who couldn't be heard in the opening.

The lady across the hall, Priscilla Allen, with her Doberman Pinscher, Trixie, looks the part as does the building super Barry Messer.

The only real flaw in what is a lovely night of entertainment is the dinner with the show. What at one time had been near-gourmet now is pretty much cafeteria grade. But for the price—and the fact that it is in Casa de Oro (a god-send for we locals)—it is well worth an evening out.

Letters to the Editor

Drink, Drive, Jail

Dear Editor:

The California Highway Patrol would like to ask holiday travelers that plan to drink and drive, where they plan to spend Christmas? The CHP in the East County area plans to find free accomodations in beautiful downtown San Diego, including free meals, for those who drink too much before driving this Christmas holiday. The accommodations will be at the County Jail and this Christmas will differ from last year in that the quick release program has been discontinued.

It is anticipated that the jail will have more business than most local hotels. Captain C. M. Douglas, Commander of the East County area, is deploying every available officer over the holiday period in an attempt to get the drunk driver off the road.

It won't be a Merry Christmas for drinking drivers who must spend the night in jail, but it's better than letting them spoil Christmas for others by causing an accident.

Christmas season typically presents more traffic problems due to changes in weather, increased traffic density (because of Christmas shoppers and travelers) and especially the drinking driver. Traffic accidents claimed 11 lives in East County last December.

CHP traditionally comes out with a safety theme for the holiday. Captain Douglas wants to let statistics convey our message. During the last 3 months our office has recorded 19 fatal accidents, 12 of which drivers or passengers were ejected from the vehicle. The cold hard message is, "wear seat belts!"

CHP officers are sworn to protect the motoring public, but they can't protect someone from himself. No one can force an individual to wear safety belts. However, common sense dictates the use of them.

The CHP will give an all-out effort to protect the public from the drunk, reckless and speeding driver during the holiday period.

A Christmas Story

Dear Editor:

About 20 years ago you printed a little story I wrote titled "Tena and her Tiny Christmas Card."

I am enclosing a copy of the story with the thought that you might like to include it in a December edition this year.

Sincerely,
Louis B. Kerfoot
3003 Olive St., L.G.

TENA AND HER TINY CHRISTMAS CARD
(By Lois B. Kerfoot)

Tena was a little girl just about your age. It was the week before Christmas, and Tena was watching her mother sort out last year's Christmas cards, giving Tena all the cards she didn't want.

I was one of the cards Tena's mother threw away. I am such a tiny card. In fact, I'm not much bigger than a postage stamp, but I have a beautiful picture on the front of me — a golden star with our Savior in the manger.

Tena was very happy with her box of cards to do with as she pleased. She spread them all out in front of her on the floor — candles glowing bright; red and silver bells, and holly, gay. I didn't think she would see me at all 'cause I was so very, very tiny. But now what do you think! She looked down at me and said, "It doesn't matter how little you cost, or how tiny you may be, as long as you represent the real Christmas spirit.

She picked me up and held me tenderly in her little hands and said, "I'll choose you to give to my Mommy". Can you imagine how happy I was to be chosen from all the other beautiful and expensive cards to be given to the one Tena loves most — her mother!

I was put in a special little box of my very own, and lay on a soft bed of white cotton. Every Christmas day I will have a special place 'cause I represent love, and the true Christmas spirit, even though I am so very, very tiny.

Drug Charge Lodged

Sheriff's deputies took a Lemon Grove man into custody last week after they allegedly found 6 baggies of marjuana on him while he was in the La Mesa Park at 10:15 a.m.

Michael Eugene Leslie, 21, 1511 El Prado, was booked on charges of possession of marijuana.

Council Gives Aid To Children, Indians

Our Lady of Grace Council, Ladies of Columbus held its annual Christmas Party last week followed by a social hour in the Knights of Columbus hall in Lemon Grove. Donations went to the Cumi Indian Tribe.

Stuffed animals made by the members helped to fill stockings for retarded children at the Home of Guilding Hands and St. Madeleine Sophies as well as for children and grandchildren of the San Miguel council Knights of Columbus.

SHE INVITES MISERY

Q. I have a friend who is a beautiful woman, but is so negative and depressed all the time. She's been divorced for a year, is 26 years old and has no children. Almost every day she's complaining about something, and it's getting very depressing for me. I'm beginning to think she invites misery and wants it. I realize that if she doesn't want to help herself then no one else can, but she is my best friend, and I can't stand to see her like this. How can I help her and how can she help herself?

A. It is indeed true that some people, as you say, invite misery. As her best friend you can show her a genuine affection.

Also, you can be positive and upbeat in your conversation and attitude. It may be that your positive attitude will motivate her to change her way of thinking. So keep it going. I would not argue with her, but let her pick up a happier spirit from you and others.

We are sending our booklet, QUIT WORRYING, which may be of help to your friend. It is free to any reader of this column. Write to us at Box 500, Pawling, N.Y. 12564.

DOESN'T FEAR GOD

Q. I am a 76-year-old retired man, active in my church and have believed in God all my life. There is one thing that puzzles me. In the Bible one very frequently sees the admonition, "Fear God." I know God loves us, but I find it very difficult, if not impossible, to fear one who loves me. I do stand in awe of all of His creations. Can you explain it to me?

A. I never liked the phrase, "the fear of God." And after much study and thought I believe that what it really means is a profound respect for God. Love and respect go together much better than do love and fear.

OUT OF THE QUESTION

Q. I love to dance and go places with men, but I hate the end of the night. I have very high morals about sex before marriage. How do I go about telling men I enjoy their company, but the bed is out of the question? I'm 24 years old, divorced and have no children. I have a pretty outgoing personality, and I guess some people think I have different feelings for them than I really do. I'm sure the problem lies within myself and would like very much to change it.

A. As an intelligent young woman you don't have to ask what to do. Just tell them straight out that you don't go to bed with anybody. Period.

If they don't like it, don't worry about it. You can conclude that they don't have the capacity to appreciate anything beyond sex. And if they did persuade you, after a few sessions they would go for somebody else.

There are still lots of decent fellows who like a girl for who she is and not merely for her body.

Atty. General Warns Drivers to Stay Sober

Drunk driving arrests traditionally soar between now and New Year's Day, according to State Attorney General Evelle J. Younger.

He noted that state law requires that a motorist submit to a chemical test for intoxication when requested to do so incidental to a lawful arrest by a peace officer who has reasonable cause to believe the driver is under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Under the state's "implied consent law" if a driver refuses the test, even though later acquitted of a drunk driving charge, his or her drver's license could still be suspended.

The attorney general also pointed out that a conviction of drunk driving carries other penalties. For example, an individual convicted of drunk driving can be fined as much as $500 and be sentenced to jail for a minimum of 48 hours or for as long as six months. A second conviction within five years carries a minimum penalty of a 48 hour jail sentence and $250 fine, and a maximum penalty of one year in jail and a fine of up to $1,000.

Younger added that a driver found to have been intoxicated while driving, and who is involved in an accident in which there is an injury may be found guilty of a felony.

The newest feature in refrigerators is energy efficiency.

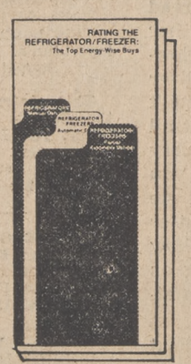
A lot of people are buying new refrigerators during this holiday season. The '79 models offer more styles and sizes, and more convenience than ever. And the nicest feature of all is energy-efficiency. Every buyer should know that some refrigerators are more energy-efficient than others. And over the 15 to 20 year life of a refrigerator, a few dollars difference a month in operating costs can add up to even more than the initial cost of the unit.

LOOKING INTO THE FRIDGE.

SDG&E has just prepared a helpful, energy-conscious guide to refrigerators. "LOOKING INTO THE FRIDGE: Facts Every Buyer should Know." It's filled with information on determining energy efficiency, selecting size and features and caring for your refrigerator.



RATING THE REFRIGERATOR/FREEZER:

The Top Energy-Wise Buys. The California State Energy Commission has just put out a list representing approximately a quarter of the most energy-efficient units on the market today. Each one is certified by the Commission as meeting or exceeding 1979 efficiency standards. The list includes the energy costs of each unit, and SDG&E is distributing the list as a public service.

Pick up both of your free copies at any of the SDG&E district offices listed below. Copies may be available through many appliance dealers.

So, before you buy a new refrigerator be informed. That way you'll make an energy-wise decision.
